Wilson & Co. have a shaft down on their olaim to a depth of sixty odd feet and the ore, all the way, is remarkably rich in gold. The ledge is only about two feet in width, but from numerous assays it averages to numers in gold to the ton. Sallisbury, the stage man, owns a claim near the Wilson, the ledge grant, owns a claim near the Wilson, and a working test of the rock returned filed per ton in gold. The rock is considerably decomposed and when water was plenty near by during a rainy day the Wil. able gold ledges are being daily discovered.

S=GENTS A

Ever hear of the Encyclopædia Britannica? Probably. If not, any literary man or librarian will tell you that it is universally accepted as the standard Encyclopædia in the English language. It ought to be. It was originally published in 1771, and since that time has passed through nine editions, the latest of which was compiled fifteen years ago. In its lifetime of a hundred years and more it has gathered to itself the choicest work of the best writers of each successive generation, sparing no expense to secure from every expert in every department of human knowledge the best he was capable of giving. On the preparation of its various editions it has spent more than three millions sterling, and the cost of the latest or ninth edition, alone was not less than ONE MILLION DOLLARS.

But the Encyclopædia Britannica has three defects which detract from its usefulness in an American family. In the first place, part of its tatest edition is now fifteen years-or half a generation-behind the age. In the next place, it makes no biographical mention of suy persons who were living when it was complied, no matter how famous they may have been; General Grant, even, is left out. And, lastly, the Encyclopædia Britannica is an English work, compiled for the use of Englishmen in England, and, as is only natural under such circumstances, it treats all subjects of peculiarly English interest exhaustively. and those of purely American interest with far less than the subject warrants. Three pages to an English County and a column or less to an American State is about the proportion.

The Americanized Encyclopædia Britannica

Contains every subject the Encyclopædia Britannica does, with the above defects carefully amended. The entire work has been revised to date, and a series of ninety-six new maps inserted; over 4,000 new biographies have been added, including every person of prominence in the entire world, and the Encyclopædia has been Americanized by reducing the space allotted to peculiarly English subjects and by enlarging that devoted to topics of purely American interest. The result is, we honestly consider, the Best Encyclopædia in the World today, and that is saying a great deal.

EIGHT CENTS DAILY WILL SECURE YOU THIS GREAT WORK.

OUR PROPOSITION.

We will deliver at your address a complete set of the Americanized Encyclopædia Britannica on payment of $5 00, and your signing a contract in which you agree to pay us $2.50 a month for ten months, in all $30.00.

It is distinctly understood that this offer is made only by giving an order for one year's subscription to this paper at the regular subscription rates. The Encyclopædia cannot be obtained in any other manner at any price.
